

DEKALB BLOGS

About DEKALB Blogs

This blog is written by Monsanto's experts or by third party using or knowing Monsanto products, under Monsanto review. This blog aims to provide helpful news, information and views to professional in agriculture domain.

We hope you find it useful, and welcome your comments. Please only leave comments in the language of the blog. Comments in other languages generally will be deleted un-read. All comments are reviewed before being published. We reserve the right to shorten and edit comments before publication.

Disclaimer and Comment Policy

The views expressed on this blog reflect the views and opinions of individual Monsanto employees and third parties. All articles and comments posted are reviewed after publication for content and observance of the principles of the Monsanto Pledge, specifically integrity, dialogue and respect.

Blog posts do not necessarily reflect the views or positions of Monsanto Company, even more if they were not yet reviewed by Monsanto.

Moreover, any references to third-party content such as press reports, scientific publications and tweets do not necessarily reflect the views or position of Monsanto and shall not constitute an endorsement of any third-party views.

Commenting Policy

Monsanto Company welcomes and encourages readers to comment and engage in respectful conversation about the content posted here. We value thoughtful, polite and concise comments that will help the agricultural community.

- All comments are moderated after publication. Moderators have the right to edit, shorten, move or delete any comment any time to keep comments within these policy guidelines
- Comments being reviewed after publication, all responsibility of their author can be engaged in case there are not in line with applicable laws or for instance, without limitation, harm the reputation of Monsanto, its products, or a third party
- Comments generally will be reviewed after publication during normal European business hours
- Any comments that contain denigration, profanity, defamation, calumny, vulgarity, racist remarks, anonymous references, threats, commercial promotion, incoherence or content generally not in line with our Pledge principles of integrity, dialogue and respect, as well as any applicable laws, will be immediately deleted
- Please refrain from posting full articles and publications from other sites, as it could be a violation of copyright or intellectual property laws.

Any comments that fail to respect these guidelines will not be approved. For more information, read our full Privacy Policy, Cookie Policy and Legal Notice.